How do we, in a community of such spiritual overabundance, focus on the here and now, focus on the next step in our own journey?

"Does This Faith Make My Soul Look Fat?" An All-Ages Worship Service

Rev. Robert Coats

We live in a consumer age and a consumer society. We can tend to sometimes make decisions based on what's the fastest and easiest instead of perhaps what's the ideal. In our culture are we consumers or practitioners of spirituality, faith, and religion? Do we apply the same marketing principles to matters of spirituality, religion and faith as we do our other consumer choices? Is it possible in a culture of great abundance to also have an overabundance of easy, fast, disposable spirituality, faith and religion?

Rev. Coats is a minister in the Metropolitan Community Church tradition and comes to us from Virginia Beach. We welcome him back to our sanctuary.

- Today's Share the Plate Collection goes to Bacon Street--an outpatient center serving individuals and families who are dealing with substance abuse and mental health issues.
- The Membership Book is open today for those who have completed the New UU Orientation sessions or are transferring membership from another UU congregation.

"The Self-Fulfilling Prophecies of Scarcity and Abundance"

Rev. Andrew Millard

When it comes to money and other limited resources, it's natural to act out of a sense of scarcity, whereas it takes intention and effort to adopt an attitude of abundance. Such behaviors, however, are not so much reflective of the availability of resources as they are predictive of them. So when it comes to funding our Unitarian Universalist mission and ministry, to live the promise of our liberal religion, how do we move from scarcity to abundance?

Rev. Andrew Clive Millard has served as minister to the Unitarian Universalist Fellowship of the Peninsula in Newport News since 2010. Swapping pulpits this morning with Andrew, Jennifer is preaching at UUF.

"Working for a Living Wage"

On MLK Sunday, we remember that Dr. King was talking with striking sanitation workers in Memphis the night before he was assassinated. At the end of his life he was focusing his efforts on economic equality and justice for the working poor.

This morning we kick off our Common Read for the year by considering those who work to bring food to our table.

- The UU Rhythmics provide music today.
- Today is Mortgage Paydown Sunday where our entire collection goes to paying off our mortgage so that we can turn our attention to "Building our Future."
- This morning we formally welcome the newest members of our congregation in a UU New Member Installation ceremony.

"Getting the News from Poetry"

News? From Poetry? Well, yes. The deepest imaginable good news. To take us on the spiritual journey for which we yearn, religion must make something new and strangely wonderful stir inside us. Poetry has that power. Let us be about invoking it. The WUU Choir sings today.

MINISTER'S CORNER

By Rev. Jennifer Ryu

January's Spiritual Theme is ABUNDANCE

The Hebrew scriptures are full of stories of Abundance. Life and God not only provides what we need, but gives more than we need. Life provides abundance. Creation itself abounds with more than we need for sustenance and nurture. Our cups runneth over, and manna falls from the sky. These stories teach us to trust Life and God. They also warn of the consequences of hoarding and failing to share our abundance. Remember what happened to the manna when the Israelites tried to store it away for themselves? It spoiled and rotted.

Preachers of all faiths feel like we're paddling upstream when we come to the pulpit with messages about the evils of consumerism and disease of affluenza. We in this country have so much, and yet we are afraid we don't have enough. We don't feel Life's abundance; we don't even feel Life's sufficiency. We don't feel safe enough, secure enough, happy enough, loved enough. Lacking an abiding sense of natural abundance, we gather up and store manna, hoping to ease our anxieties about not having enough. But the manna quickly spoils, and we find that we have become isolated from both our own prosperity and the poverty of others.

The number of Americans living in poverty has increased to 16% of the population. And 20% of all children in our country are living in economically depressed households. At the same time, 20% of all adults will reach an annual income of $250,000 or more at some point in their lives. As Americans accumulate more wealth, we seem to have grown less generous and less able to experience the genuine abundance of Life.

We have enough. In fact, we have more than enough to ensure the care of our most vulnerable neighbors. What will it take for us to believe this? On Tuesday, January 21, I hope you will join me at the General Assembly in Richmond for the Day For All People--a day to advocate for the common good, and to spread the good news that there is enough...there is more than enough!

Happy New Year!
Rev. Jennifer

We believe in families.

Bacon Street

Bacon Street is an outpatient center serving individuals and families who are dealing with substance abuse and mental health issues. Bacon Street uses individual and/or group therapy to help their clients. The center has for more than 30 years offered service to Williamsburg/ James City County residents who pay either with insurance or a sliding scale fee based on financial need. Over the last several years the funds provided by the community to support Bacon Street have been severely cut making it necessary to cut staff and programs. Please be generous so that in particular younger clients can receive help before they become entrenched in drug, alcohol and other addictive behaviors.

From the Board:

WUU has drummed in the new solar year and soon the world will be ringing in the new calendar year. We've been celebrating with family, friends, with food and drink. I hope you found enjoyment and peace in all the ways you marked the events of this season. In the midst of it all, the Board was busy keeping WUU on track, always moving forward. Just what did we do?

- ◆ As the result of the revised governance organization that we adopted last spring, the Board finished revising and developing policies to reflect its focus on strategy, oversight, and ensuring that funds, staff and facilities are in place to support our mission.
- ◆ In December we implemented our oversight responsibility, inviting the Social Justice co-chairs to discuss with us the WUU Social Justice goals and activities to meet those goals. Over time the Board will be asking the same of the other Ministry Team leaders.
- ◆ Board committees (Personnel, Finance, Building Our Future, Stewardship and Governance), as the developmental arms of the Board, each work within a specific area of Board responsibility, studying issues, determining actions, and preparing proposals for moving forward.
 - ◇ The Personnel Committee continues to work with Jennifer in getting answers from the federal government which is holding up the immigration paperwork for our chosen interim LFD director. The committee has proposed a modest raise in salary for all our employees as part of next fiscal year's budget-planning, which was approved by the Board.
 - ◇ The Finance Committee, with input from the Ministry Team Leaders and Personnel Committee, drafted a preliminary budget for our 2014-15 fiscal year and the two years beyond. It was approved by the full Board. You will see the draft later this month.
 - ◇ As the preliminary budget was being developed, the Stewardship Committee began its work in earnest. Soon the congregation will be receiving information from them. The Board is trusting that the proposed budget and the funds pledged to support it will match.
 - ◇ Les Solomon and Roger Guernsey from the Building our Future (BOF) Committee and I met with a group of local architects, giving them a tour of our facilities and campus in anticipation of receiving proposals from them very soon. Assuming you read the BOF Newsletters, you know where this fits in the timeline. Hopefully by now the last $2000 needed to sign the contracts with an architect to provide building options and with a consultant from UUA who will conduct our financial feasibility study will be in hand or pledged. Once the funding is secure, the Board will approve the contracts and the first phase toward possible construction will have been completed.
 - ◇ The Governance Committee being responsible for drafting policies and preparing Board meetings, retreats, and congregational meetings scheduled two major events for the near future. (1) The Board Ministry Team Leaders will join in a 2-hour retreat in mid-January to consider the current WUU volunteer situation and ways to include all members in the work of the congregation. (2) February 9th is the date for the Annual Congregation Meeting. A good slate of candidates for open positions is ready and one bylaw change are ready for your approval. Expect additional information during the month.

On behalf of the Board, I wish each of you personally a fulfilling 2014, and, as a congregation, may this new year bring us energy and excitement as we carry out our mission.

WUU NEW MEMBER ORIENTATION

Perhaps you have been attending WUU for a few months or perhaps you are a new visitor and are interested in finding out more about the congregation, its offerings and ministries. Our orientation program offers a comfortable setting in which to ask questions, to learn more about WUU in general from two experienced facilitators, to meet the minister, to pursue your own spiritual journey and learn the path to membership.

Orientation is split into two parts: Sunday, January 12, from 4:00 – 6:00 at Fahs House and on the following Saturday, January 18, from 9:00 – 1:00, lunch included, at Fahs House on the WUU campus. Registration is necessary either online at <http://www.surveymonkey.com/s/january2014orientation> or at the visitors' table. Childcare can be arranged if requested by January 6.

We look forward to getting acquainted with more newcomers and to introduce you to the Williamsburg Unitarian Universalists faith community. Please register for our January orientation program. For questions, stop by the visitor's table or contact Trenna Tankersley, 565-7909, tankersley3@cox.net.

An Abundance of Optimism

As I write this column a few days before Christmas week, I try to imagine January's spiritual theme of abundance. It's something I currently lack, particularly an abundance of time and space. There are too many demands on my attention at this time of the year. Living feels rushed and crowded. The daylight gets shorter.

At this point, in the seeming scarcity of time, space, and light, it seems silly to talk about giving time, talent and treasure to WUU. Yet now is the time to step forward and support another year at WUU with an abundance of optimism. Your Finance Committee and Board have adopted a three year budget, and your Stewardship Committee has been meeting for the last 3 months in preparation for the 2014-15 annual pledge drive. Our upcoming goal of $331,000 to fund WUU operations from July 1, 2014-June 30, 2015 is possible with everyone's support.

How do we get there? As the hymn goes, by taking "one more step". We are all stewards of the congregation planted in Williamsburg by 99 souls 25 years ago. Did they know then that we would grow into a congregation over 2 ½ times as large? Or that we would have the sacred space on Ironbound Road where we now gather for inspirational services weekly and host the homeless one week a year? If the charter members had listened to the purveyors of scarcity, we would likely be elsewhere and the Williamsburg community less well served.

Abundance does exist. The winter solstice has passed and the days will begin to get longer. Our time in February to acknowledge the optimism of our founders and leaders is fast upon us. By communicating our needs to each other, sharing our talents with WUU and the world, and pursuing a common financial goal, we can fund the continued existence of a noncreedal religious community at WUU now, for ourselves and for those who will follow.

Please share your thoughts, concerns, and dreams with the Stewardship Committee. And please support the annual operations of our congregation by your abundant contributions to the annual pledge drive when it commences on January 26th. Thank you for your participation and your optimism.

With your gifts, help WUU thrive and bless the world!

"FOLLOW YONDER STAR" PAGEANT NEWS

Thanks go out to all who helped with the Pageant on the 22nd. It was so much fun, and the children and teens did a great job! A DVD of the Pageant is being made by John Trindle; if you want one, let Pat Hoppe know by emailing her at dlfd@wuu.org or by calling the office and adding your name to the list. There will also be a sign-up sheet in the Narthex so that we can order the correct number.

COFM HOMELESS SHELTER - FEBRUARY 16-23

We will begin signing up volunteers after services in January.

On-line registration can begin any time.

<http://www.signupgenius.com/go/10C094FA4AD28A0FE3-cofm>

Last year almost everyone participated in some way:

- Volunteering for one or more shifts.
- Making food to deliver to the church.
- Donating money at the Christmas Eve service or any time with the notation COFM shelter.
- Donating a service or entertainment for our guests.
- Anything else you would like to do to make our guest's stay comfortable.

Thank you for participating in this important social justice mission.

Come with us to Richmond on 1/21!

Join Rev. Jennifer and our WUU SJ Leaders who will be traveling to Richmond on Tuesday, January 21, 2014 to take part in the Day for All People. We'll be joined by other UUs from the newly formed UULM-VA Group at this Virginia Interfaith Center sponsored event. This is your chance to interact with our legislators on important issues, Registration is required by January 17. Contact Helen Hansen, David Wilcox, or John Whitley for more information.

We'll meet at WUU at 7 am and carpool to the Greater Richmond Convention Center for a day of fellowship, education and advocacy. The morning will include a welcome address and policy briefings, after which we will walk over to meet with our Senators and Delegates, and watch committee hearings and the floor sessions. We will then return to the Convention Center for lunch and an afternoon speaker.

Since space is limited and online registration is required, please register using this link before 1/17 and let also us know at sjchair@wuu.org that you'll be coming with us so we don't leave you behind! For more information about the day, you can find an agenda online here.

MEETING SPIRITUAL NEEDS FROM A FAMILY PERSPECTIVE

By Tamra Elim-Durden

Happy New Year! With a new year, comes new beginnings. I am pleased to announce that WUU is starting a Parents As Spiritual Teachers group. The Parents As Spiritual Teachers group will begin meeting in January. Date and time will be announced shortly. Lunch and child care (by Autumn Elim-Durden and Kaliska Wiley) will be provided.

I am delighted to be co-leading this group with fellow WUU, Ms. Suzanne Cavalier-Dorsett. Suzanne has been a licensed clinical social worker for 25 years and has direct experience running parenting groups. She is currently parenting 10 year old Benjamin and 14 year old son Ryan ,and also has a 32 year old daughter Michele and 3 year old granddaughter, Scarlett. Michele was raised in the Unitarian church in Norfolk and is currently attending and will be teaching at the UU in Montclair New Jersey!

As for myself, I have been teaching in a wide range of settings for almost 20 years and have been a member of WUU for almost 16 years. My daughters, Sean (20) and Autumn (15) grew up as part of the religious education program here. I was actively involved in committee work during their youth and am excited to be engaged once again.

During our sessions, we will focus on effective parenting and families bonding and communicating through the spirituality of their choice. But most importantly we will be individualizing the needs and issues of each parent in the group.

If you have any questions please contact me at tamra.e@cox.net. I look forward to leading with Suzanne and meeting the needs of the many wonderful WUU parents!

WHAT IS QIGONG?

Since February of last year, 14 WUU's and friends have been gathering on Tuesday nights at 7pm in the narthex to learn an ancient Chinese form of meditation and mindful exercise. Qigong (pronounced CHEE-GONG) is the great grandparent of Tai Chi. Usually done standing, although it can be done seated, it consists of simple flowing, circular and spiral movements that enhance flexibility, co-ordination, muscle tone and balance. It can raise the level of the body's natural healing energy (Qi or Chi) and circulate it throughout the body. Once the movements have been learned, Qigong becomes a form of mediation in motion, resulting in a transparent mind and a sense of inner peace and calm. WUU's are welcome to join us; there is no charge. If you would like more information, please see David Hamilton or write him at: dfhamilton108 @ gmail.com.

OUR WHOLE LIVES

WUU will be offering Our Whole Lives to our middle school and early high school students in the winter and spring of 2014. Our Whole Lives is a lifespan sexuality education curricula jointly developed by the Unitarian Universalist Association and the United Church of Christ. Although the series covers all age groups, the grades 7 ~ 9 unit for young adolescents is the centerpiece.

Our Whole Lives covers topics and skills that both parents and students want to have available but schools are less likely to cover. The program is based on the values of self-worth, sexual health, responsibility, justice, and inclusivity.

The 2014 sessions held at WUU will be co-facilitated by trained leaders Sue Walkley and John Hochella. The twelve sessions for young adolescents will be held on select Sundays, February through May. Parents of potential students should receive a letter with more information, but if you have questions, please call Sue (757-903-7551) or John (757-221-0975). The required orientation session for parents is scheduled for Monday, January 27, 6:00 ~ 7:00 PM, at WUU.

NEWS FROM LIFESPAN FAITH DEVELOPMENT

With January 2014 almost upon us; I want to invite anyone with an interest in contributing ideas and sharing your thoughts about Sunday Children and Youth Programs to a meeting after services on January 5th after the 11:15 service. I am asking two teens (Amber and Nathaniel) to take the children into the Spirit Play room for a snack. The adults will be in the larger room where we can think together about the spring semester of our year; I welcome each of you to have a voice and to be free to express all your ideas and concerns. The curriculum is in place, so I will be able to share that with you.

The January 5th service is an "All Ages Worship Together" morning when the children will be part of the service. I am planning an Epiphany story for them to participate in....spontaneously....as they sit up front with me that morning for the story. Thanks so much for planning to attend. I hope to see you at the meeting on January 5th.

-Pat Hoppe, LFD Acting Director

Did you see?

This month...

- ◆ Thanks to Fred Bergmann for spraying the shrubs at the entrance. We think we have killed the poison ivy! Also, thanks Fred for taking care of some plumbing issues.
- ◆ Thanks to Kathi Mestayer for doing some research on acoustical issues in the sanctuary.
- ◆ Thanks to David Benson and several men for decorating the sanctuary and narthex.

SPIRITUALITY PROGRAM OFFERED

BY JENNIFER RYU & PRESTON MOORE

January 27 & 28 (choose 2pm or 7pm section), Fahs House

"The Material Worked by Poetry"

The literary giant Harold Bloom says that consciousness is to poetry as stone is to sculpture: it is the material worked. What might happen if you submitted yourself to being shaped, worked on, in this way? If you want to find out, come to a program of being with poems and sharing they affect us. No literary criticism. Just the poems and one another.

This is a two-session class on Monday, January 27 and Tuesday, January 28. To maximize accessibility of the program, there will be two times offered, one in the afternoon (2pm to 4pm) and another in the evening (7pm to 9pm). Participants who can attend the afternoon section should try to do so, in order to make it possible for others who work during the day to attend in the evening section. Please sign up Here.

Facilitators: Revs. Jennifer Ryu and Preston Moore.
