9:15 am The Circle: Contemplative Worship "I Want to be Loving"

Eva Burke, Worship Leader

We all want to be loved, but above all, our most heartfelt wish is to love, deeply and universally. Realistically, though, there are times when this seems like an unreachable ideal. What then? How can we express ourselves, genuinely and skillfully, when showing overt love doesn't work?

11:15 am "The Problem With Being Right"

All-Ages Worship Service

Rev. Kristin Grassel Schmidt

It isn't easy when opinions we hold dear are challenged. It is even less easy when such challenge reveals we have been wrong. This Sunday we will explore the need to be right, how it can be a barrier to growth and justice, and what it might feel like to let that need go.

Rev. Jennifer Ryu

We begin our month-long reflection on love by considering those who are the hardest to love. Rev. Jennifer is seeking one or two people to share your stories in a 3-minute "From the Heart" about loving when loving is hard. Natalie Miller Moore has offered to help coach those who would like some extra help. Please send an email to Jennifer @ wuu.org if you would like to share a bit of yourself.

Rev. Jennifer Ryu

...is Love. We don't see things clearly sometimes. We stumble in the dark and in the haze waiting for the light to come or the fog to lift. Until that time comes, what will hold us steady? Faith? Hope? Love? The ancient ones say that Love is the greatest of these. Is this true? Can love conquer all and save us from suffering?

All-Ages Worship Service

Rev. Jennifer Ryu

When we find something we love, it's impossible to keep it inside. When we have found something precious and enlivening, we want to share it. Because Love is at the heart of our community, it reaches out beyond these walls. Music and Stories will be woven together in this worship for families and people of all ages.

Sometimes the hardest person to love is the one staring back at us in the mirror. Can we face our imperfection, vulnerability and shame and learn to love the "stranger who has loved you all your life?" (from "Love After Love" by Derek Wolcott)

March's Spiritual Theme is Love

MINISTER'S CORNER

By Rev. Jennifer Ryu

Admit something.
Everyone you see, you say to them "Love me."
Of course you do not do this out loud:
Otherwise,
Someone would call the cops.
Still, though, think about this,
This great pull in us to connect.
Why not become the one
Who lives with a full moon in each eye
That is always saying,
With that sweet moon Language
What every other eye in this world
Is dying to Hear?"

— Hafiz

<3 This means love

<33 This means bigger love

The heart may be the universal symbol of love, but the eyes speak its language.

This month we contemplate the spiritual practice of Love. We love with our words and with our silent presence. We love when we act and when we refrain from acting. We love when we behold one another and when we are beheld. To see and to be seen is an essential act of loving.

"Love is the doctrine of this church." Many congregations use these words as their covenant, affirming the centrality of Love in their communities. This doesn't mean that we are going to like everyone all the time. It doesn't mean that we will feel affection and fondness for everyone. Love, in a religious community, means that we will strive to see one another and ourselves as fully as we can. Seeing beyond the masks we all wear, seeing beyond disabilities and limitations, we strive to see as God sees. If we are able to do that, then it's impossible NOT to love one another. And if we saw ourselves in this way, it would be impossible NOT to love ourselves.

What would our community feel like if we allowed ourselves to be seen for exactly who we are, trusting that we would be offered love and acceptance?

What would it be like to live with a full moon in each eye?

Share the Plate for March 2, 2014

On Sunday, March 2, the Share the Plate Program will donate the proceeds to the Navigators USA sponsored by our congregation.

Navigators USA is a nationwide scouting organization committed to providing a quality scouting experience available to all children and their families, regardless of gender, race, religion, economic status, sexual orientation, or social background. The local Navigators Chapter 36 held its first excursion in January 2013. Leaders Greg Caldwell and Dan Moore (both WUU members) believe that the Navigators fill a real need in the greater Williamsburg community for an inclusive scouting experience. The chapter's first year was successful, and exciting things are in store for 2014. The group meets in Fahs House on the first Thursday of the month from 6:30-7:30, and also conducts monthly outdoor excursions. For more information, please contact:

Dan Moore - danartmo@yahoo.com, Greg Caldwell - greg.caldwell@cox.net

From the Board President:

February 2014! Who of us will forget it? We celebrated, we planned, we started, we finished. Here are a few of those as seen through the eyes of your Board president. What celebrations, plans, starts or finishes stand out in your mind?

We grew older as a congregation, completing our first quarter century as the liberal voice of religion in the Williamsburg area. We celebrated that first quarter century, thanking all of those who had the vision and determination to start us on our way, renewing ties to former ministers, and reviewing some of the milestones that have brought us to this point. We welcomed several new members. By changing a bylaw, we made it possible for new pledging members to become involved in decision making immediately.

We planned for our next fiscal year, electing new members to congregational committees and the Board. Congratulations to all of you: Sue Walkley to the Nominating Committee, Linda Foster to the Endowment Committee, Jane Reilly to the Committee for Right Relations, and Jim Kent and Carol Sherman as new members of the Board. Our Stewardship pledge drive got off to a good start with the full intention of a good finish to provide sufficient financial resources to keep WUU working toward our mission and goals. The Personnel Committee formed a new search committee for a Director of Religious Education (DRE), with strong anticipation of that person's being in place by the start of the new fiscal year in July.

We started a relationship with Guernsey Tingle Architects, signing a contract for them to prepare preliminary plans for possible facility expansion, and holding many meetings for the congregation to share their interests and concerns. On Sunday, March 23, the congregation as a whole will gather for a WUU Town Meeting to talk more with these architects about our wishes and needs. The DRE search began, with résumés due to WUU by the middle of March. The Board is preparing for a retreat on March 8 to introduce the incoming new members to Board work, to analyze 2013 accomplishments, and determine major elements of their work ahead as they keep the congregation focused on our Mission and Vision.

We finished, for the second year, a week of hosting 15-25 homeless guests in our sanctuary for dinner, overnight accommodations and breakfast. In addition to the food and a warm place to sleep, how delighted they were to be offered a hot shower on our premises, something not many other congregation are able to offer.

It was a good month – a very good month!

Now the Board looks forward to March and the challenges that lie ahead. If you have concerns you would like the Board to address, or just have a question about what we are doing, please contact the Board at board@wuu.org.

By the time the next newsletter is published, flowers will be blooming; it will be Spring! The cluster meeting at the Unitarian Universalist Fellowship of the Peninsula (our UU neighbors in Newport News) will have been well attended by many of us. Details of that will be coming out soon. Please plan to join in that day of celebration, planning and starting new cooperative ventures with our fellow UU congregations. The UUA Moderator, Jim Key, will be the keynote speaker.

Best wishes to you and for all that you celebrate, plan, start & finish as Spring -a time of renewal- begins.

We'll be showing the 2010 documentary entitled, "Deep Down: A Story from the Heart of Coal Country." The film tells the story of a community that is struggling with the impacts of destructive coal mining. While some decide to sell the rights to their land, permitting mountaintop removal, others fight the coal company and work to prevent their hills from being destroyed.

Last summer's WV Mission Trip participants experienced the devastation of mountaintop removal firsthand and urge you to see this powerful movie.

Join us for a light supper at 6:30 pm in the Sanctuary. Reservations must be received by March 9 on the signup form on the SJ table in the narthex or by email to sjchair@wuu.org. Childcare must be requested by March 9, by the same procedure.

Newsletter

Last week, WUU and our partner, Temple Beth El, experienced our second opportunity to host the Community of Faith Mission winter shelter, putting at least three of our UU principles into practice:

- The inherent worth and dignity of every person;
- Justice, equity and compassion in human relations;
- Respect for the interdependent web of all existence of which we are a part.

Thirty two guests were welcomed into our space and over one hundred volunteers from both congregations participated in welcoming, making food, setting up and cleaning up, donating time, talent, and treasure. It was a blessing to be able to assist our vulnerable neighbors.

Special thanks to key leaders, Kathy Suslik, Stacey Felipe, Jessica O'Brien, Ruth Hopkinson, Dave and Virginia Banks, Doug Hansen, and to all the volunteers. Helen Hansen, COFM coordinator for WUU.

Lost & Found

Did you lose a lunch tote, earring, scarf, or perhaps a jacket? We have a few things that would like to be reunited with their owners; please check the blue bin in the library to see if your item is waiting for you.

Book Discussion Group

Come share a meaningful book discussion and a "bring your own bag lunch" once a month with other WUU's including Jennifer. We will be meeting on the 3rd Wednesday @ 12:00 Noon for approximately one hour in the Fahs House kitchen. Our first meeting will be Wednesday, March 19th and the book we have chosen to start with is: "God is Not One: Eight Rival Religions that Run the World" by Stephen Prothero (available inexpensively from Amazon). There is room for 20 people and we have 6 people already-first come, first served. Please respond to Ellyn in the office if you are interested 220-6830 or office@wuu.org

Cheers from your 3 Co-Leaders, Carolyn Wilson, Donna Davenport & Nancy Carnegie.

IT'S TIME TO BE A GOOD STEWARD

If you have not already made a pledge, listen to the reasons that over 100 new and Charter members, young and young at heart have given to this Congregation – we give to keep the WUU mission strong and serving each of us and those we love for another year.

WITH YOUR GIFTS, HELP WUU THRIVE AND BLESS THE WORLD

For the congregation year beginning on July 1, 2014, we are seeking $331,000 in pledges and gifts from our members and friends. Over half of you have already made a pledge over the last month, and we thank you! For those who have not yet taken the opportunity, pledge forms along with pledging information, will be available in the foyer before and after worship services on Sunday mornings for the first two weeks of March. If you are not able to pick up your pledge packet following a service, a member of the Stewardship Committee will contact you, in person or by mail. We intend to end our appeal for pledges quickly. But that depends on hearing back from you promptly.

WHAT DO I DO TO MAKE A PLEDGE?

Instructions for donations to the 2014-15 operating fund are in the pledge envelopes. The instructions are also available in a link on the www.wuu.org home page. Online donation is welcome and encouraged.

Thank you for all of your gifts and for helping to nurture and sustain the community we have created together.

WELCOME NEW MEMBERS

Donna Davenport and her husband Jim Butler moved to Williamsburg from Texas about a year ago, hoping to find four seasons, some liberal friends, and new things to do and think about. Donna recently retired as a psychology professor at Texas A&M, and before retiring, Jim was entertainment editor of the local newspaper. Donna is a clinical psychologist and maintains a practice in Williamsburg and is author of “Singing Mother Home: A Psychologist's Journey through Anticipatory Grief”. She was raised in the Presbyterian church, but is so glad to find a spiritual home at WUU that is welcoming, open-minded and open-hearted, and active in social justice issues.

Denyse Doerries, a New England native raised in the Catholic tradition, often refers to herself as a recovering Catholic. She and her husband moved to Virginia in 1971 for employment, stayed, and started their family. They joined a Presbyterian church in Newport News because of the great children's preschool and programs for youth, as well as for the exceptional ministers. Over the years, the importance of being a part of a community became crucial to the Doerries family's well being. When Denyse moved to Williamsburg in June 2013, she began sampling churches and was struck by the warmth, caring, and openness of the WUU. She is very thankful for the welcoming reception she has received here and is intent on contributing to this community.

Stacey and Christian (Chris) Felipe and Kekoa have been friends of WUU since September 2012. Chris, a professional accountant who graduated from Christopher Newport University, is a Filipino-American born and raised in Newport News. After a few setbacks within the past year, he has thankfully found some professional stability at the Lumber Liquidators headquarters in Toano. A “military brat” born in Ft. Benning GA, Stacey's family settled in Newport News toward the end of her father's military career. She also is a CNU graduate and began work as a senior computer programmer for Sage Software. After a brief illness prompted a shift in her personal priorities, Stacey left Sage to form her healing arts business: S&S Interconnected Wellness. Their six-year-old son, Kekoa, is a first grader at Norge Elementary School. Stacey and Chris were raised in the Catholic faith. After becoming disenchanted with the dogma, they effectively ceased the practice of Catholicism. Despite maintaining their own spiritual beliefs, for several years they were not involved with any organized church or faith community. A few years after their son was born, a shift in their beliefs occurred, and their spiritual journey was re-energized with the hopes of finding an open, welcoming faith community of people with similar beliefs. That journey led the Felipes to WUU.

Susan Holler, a native of Williamsburg, graduated from Virginia Tech. After working for the National Park Service, she joined the Army and experienced Germany and Saudi Arabia in Desert Storm/Desert Shield. Susan has worked for the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation for 20 years. She is seeking community connections and enjoys investigating religious thoughts and beliefs. Susan finds the open discussions available at WUU functions enlightening and moving.

Shelly Larson and her husband, Pierce, live in Hayes. Originally from Grafton NY, they moved to the Hampton Roads area in January 2009 after graduating from college. Shelly has a BS in early childhood education with a Spanish concentration from The College of Saint Rose, and Pierce has a BS in landscape contracting from SUNY Cobleskill. Shelly moved back to NY in July of 2009 to complete a MEd in curriculum and instruction with a bilingual education extension, returning in January 2011. She owns and operates Larson Child Care and Education, a family child care business.

Shelly learned about Unitarian Universalism from a grad school colleague. Once settled in Hayes, she searched the UUA website for a nearby UU congregation and began attending WUU services in November. Although Shelly and Pierce do not have children of their own yet, they look forward to WUU providing their family with a well-rounded religious education.

Josie Sevilla dedicates her time and attention to her family and her students. She is married to Noel Sevilla, and has three children, Sawyer, Aurora, and Sage. She teaches Spanish at Grafton High School. She has curiosity and respect for all religions, and feels great comfort in her own spirituality. WUU has been the first church where Josie truly feels at home.

Bonnie Youngberg grew up in the Chicago suburbs. She graduated from Indiana University and the University of Illinois. After living in Amherst MA, Champaign IL, and Rochester NY, Bonnie settled in Virginia Beach for 32 years. Teaching led to counseling and then to psychotherapy and private practice. She retired in 2012 and moved to Williamsburg with Jim Boden. Bonnie was divorced for many years before she and Jim met through the internet. They live in Colonial Heritage. Bonnie found UU early in her adult life and had her son dedicated in the church. He lives and works in the Research Triangle NC and is married with 3 wonderful sons. She connected to the Quaker Meeting in Virginia Beach for a dozen years, but finds WUU a “homecoming”.

Thanks go out to all those who help with the tasks of providing for the youth:

- To our Sunday morning teachers at Fahs and Parker: Susan Walkley, John Hochella, Rani Wachter, Stacy Bolling, Kim Richards-Thomas, Barbara Worthen, Vanessa Jones, Eileen O'Brien, Gwen Wolverton-Diggs, Tamra Elim-Durden and Jennifer Smith;

Report on the Charlotte, NC "Hunger Con" weekend for Teens

Molly Sequeria, Keely Beard, and Autumn Elim-Durden traveled to a weekend conference for youth held at UU Church of Charlotte February 7th through 9th and met about 60 other teens, grades 8 through 12. Pat Hoppe served as their advisor; they all drove down with Sally Daniels, a youth advisor from the Norfolk UU community. At the conference (Named for "The Hunger Games" movies and novels) the teens enjoyed a talent show on Saturday evening followed by a sock-hop; during the day they attended workshops designed to develop community and trust among the participants; on Saturday afternoon all traveled to a nearby Baptist recreation center that included showers, a basketball court, and a pool. Teens from Roanoke, Richmond, Newport News, Atlanta, Raleigh, and Salem enjoyed getting to know each other. Meals were provided by volunteers from the Charlotte UU Fellowship and sleeping quarters were provided in the church's classrooms. About twelve advisors were present to chaperone, but the entire conference was planned and led by the youth of Charlotte's Unitarian Universalist Church.

The late nights and early mornings did not deter the fun....so we look forward to the next over-night lock-in in Newport News March 28th. If you have a teen in your family, look for the permission slip that will come in the email next week for the future lock-in.
