

Visioning Circles begin this week.

This week, close to 40 congregants will meet in homes or at Parker House to ask two important questions:

What is special or meaningful to you about the current WUU campus and facilities that you might want to see either preserved or enhanced?

In the next five years, what changes would you like to see that would help WUU function better? What will WUU look like inside and out? How will this changed space enhance our congregational values and mission.

Why is it important that we hear from everyone? As we begin to think about facilities expansion, we cannot do it alone. Ours is a shared vision that comes from the synergy of speaking and listening to each other.

More than 100 signup for the Visioning Circles.

The signup sheets began to fill up on Sunday as congregants looked for the best date and venue. Already, some have closed because we do not want the circles to have more than 10 persons to enable all to have a voice. The Visioning Circles for July are:
